Jordan, Walker Back From Dayton, Ohio

Lee Jordan, proprietor of Jordan Implement Company, 220 W. Central, Comanche, and Norvel Walker, Sidney farmer, are back home after a stormy plane trip from Dallas to Chicago enroute to Dayton, Ohio, where two trucks and two pickups were purchased for Jordan's concern.

Walker stated that the plane had to circle the air port in Chicago for over an hour before it could land.

When the two were in Dayton, they toured the International Harvester Assembling plant.

They drove the two trucks back to Comanche, bringing the pickup, "piggy-back" or in tow. They say they enjoyed the trip despite the bad weather, and declare that Texas still has the best highways.

WOOL MARKETING YEAR ENDS IN MARCH

Chairman William F. Bryant of the Comanche County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminds wool growers that the marketing year for purposes of the 1959 wool program will end March 31.

The wool program is conducted under the National Wool Act of 1954. Payments under the 1959 program will be made this summer when payment rates are determined on the basis of the national average price received by producers for shorn wool during the 1959 marketing year.

For a completed sale, Bryant said, title must have passed to the buyer, the wool must have been delivered to the buyer (either physically or through documents), and the last of the factors (price per pound, weight, yield, etc.) needed to determine the total purchase price must be available. If any condition concerning the sale is not settled by March 31, the sale will not be considered as complete.

Sales receipts should be filed at the County ASC Office as soon as available.

PRE-MEASUREMENT OF PEANUTS AND COTTON AVAILABLE TO FARMERS

Any farmer who wishes to have his field measured officially in advance of planting peanuts or cotton to assure compliance with acreage allotments should apply as soon as possible to his county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, William F. Bryant, Chairman, announced today.

Under the premeasurement program, regular ASC performance reports measure the fields. The premeasured acreages will be accepted as official for all ASC purposes provided no obvious error is made and provided the fields are planted as measured. A later trip to the farm will be made to determine that these requirements have been met, but in most cases an additional survey will not be necessary.

The purpose of premeasurement, Mr. Bryant said, is to help the farmer guard against either overplanting or underplanting his crop allotment. Overplanting, either through inaccurate measurement by the farmer or through incorrect information about the size of the permanent fields, can often cause unnecessary expense for fertilizer, seed and soil treatment. Underplanting can cause loss of farm income.

Requests for premeasurement should reach the county office not later than May 10, 1960, Bryant said. At the time of application the farmer will be asked to deposit sufficient funds to cover cost of the work. The cost has been set at $10.00 per farm, plus $4.00 each plot over one.

The Dudley Brothers senior show herd, cut to five animals for the San Antonio show, also placed well. D.B. Ranger 32nd was first in its class of Summer Yearling Bulls.

Livestock Barn Improvements Are $833 Shy Of Goal

by Angus Dickson, Jr., County Agricultural Agent.

At the recent meeting of the Comanche County Livestock Association, directors and officials reported on the recent 1960 Comanche County Junior Livestock Show and made initial plans for the 1961 show, including the upcoming annual meeting.

The annual meeting of the Association was set for March 7 in the District Courtroom in Comanche. President Karl Barry appointed a nominating committee composed of Elton Dudley, D. F. Caraway and chairman, D. F. Caraway and Gayle McCullough. The new officers and four new directors will be elected at the annual meeting and join eight holdover directors to form the nucleus of the 1960-61 organization.

According to Treasurer Herbert Goodson, "The total cash outlay for the new showbarn improvements and facilities added this year was $2,328.27 and of this amount $1,495.26 in bills have been paid to date—leaving a balance of $833.51 due and needed to finish paying for the new improvements."

Goodson said, "Any interested people who would like to participate in winding up this project can contact a Livestock Association director or the treasurer."

D. F. Caraway, general superintendent of the 1960 show, says, "We think we got a bargain in the new barn—our evaluation of the improvements is over $7,500 and we never had better cooperation of Comanche County-fans. We'd like to get this project finished before next Friday, Feb. 26th."

Goodson also reported that $1,016 in prize money was awarded at the 1960 show and the total cost of putting on the show including judges, prizes, plaques, ribbons, was $1,261.69—which is all paid for and clear.

INDIANS WIND UP DISTRICT PLAY WITH TWIN SWEEP OVER DUBLIN

The Comanche basketball squads both boys and girls, swept a pair of tilts from the Dublin Lions Friday night—bringing to a close the 1959-60 regular season.

The Indian Maidens, with a 7-1 district record, finished two full games ahead of runner-up De Leon and Granbury, to take the district title. Comanche will face the winner of the Winters-Coleman play off game for the bi-district.

Both cage teams ended up the regular season with a winning record. The boys won 14 and lost 9 for the season while the girls won 24 and lost 8.

Coach Troy Norris' sextet downed the Dublin lassies 52-40 in the opener Friday night—and Coach Ray Smith's Indians ran up their biggest total of the season, whipping the Lions 82-54 in the nightcap.

Swann Henson paced the Indian Maidens with 21 points, while Sue Gore had 10 and Barbara Jennings 8. Rounding out the scoring for the locals, Connie Butler had 6, Sylvia Timmons 3, and Rita Welch 3.

SENIORS ROLL

Led by the three seniors on the 9 man "A" squad—big John Gleaton, who racked in 26 points, Gary Swearingin, with 18, and Richard Terrell with 15—the Indians put on their best offensive showing of the year.

Leading by 15 points early in the second period—the Comanche reserve took over—and Dublin cut the margin, at halftime to 2 points—the locals leading 35-33.

But the margin swelled briskly during the final two periods. Comanche really moved the ball—and began hitting the bucket with accuracy from all angles, to put on the best show, in this final game of the season. Dublin kept in the ball game by amazing accuracy at the free throw lines—making 23 of 26 tosses.

The win enabled the Indians to finish in third place—behind District Champion Granbury, and runner-up, Hamilton.

MAIDENS FACE GORMAN

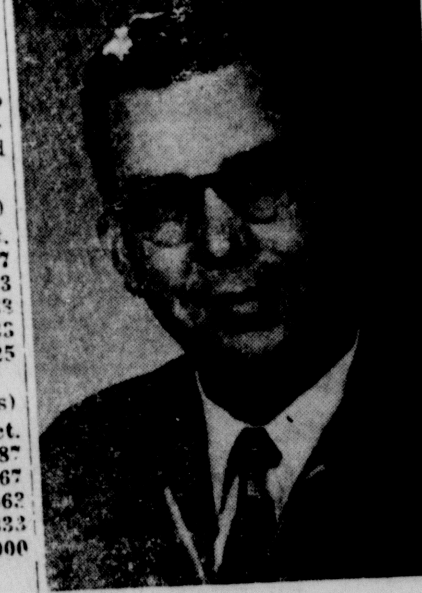

The Indian Maidens will face the Gorman girls, Glass B district champions, in Gorman this Thursday night. The Gorman girls will return the game here next Thursday night, February 25. In two meetings this season, the Comanche and Gorman teams have split a pair.

The bi-district game with the winner of the Coleman-Winters game is to be played either on Monday night, February 29 or Tuesday night, March 1.

Troy Norris, who filled in for injured Fred Curry, who is still hospitalized following a Thanksgiving Day car wreck, was presented with a Western hat by fans at the basketball game Friday night.

Perhaps you noted in last week's Chief that an effort is being made to establish a County Library in Comanche.

A general organizational meeting is scheduled for Friday night, February 19, in the Methodist Church Parlor at 7:30 o'clock. Everybody is invited to attend.

There is a window display on library work in the Fashion Shop's window on the north side of the square, next to The Fabric Center.

Every one who is interested in being a part, large or small, in this progressive movement for Comanche County, regardless of where you live, is invited to offer suggestions and help.

The power behind the throne in this progressive movement, we believe is Mrs. Jim Ellis, although she denies it and does not want her name mentioned. But if anybody can put it over, we believe Phyllis is the one who can do it.

There is no need to go into an argument about the need of a good library in Comanche County in addition to the fine school libraries and the De Leon Library, for we believe that everyone is interested in such a project.

According to the Texas Almanac, there are 276 public libraries in Texas, 85 college and university libraries, and about 90 notable special libraries.

The largest library in Texas is the M. B. Lamar Library of the University of Texas with more than 1,200,000 books in addition to a great collection of documents.

The oldest library is the State Library at Austin with 285,000 books and several million manuscripts. It was established in 1839.

Public libraries near Comanche include the following: Brownwood, 22,455; Ballinger, 3,000; Brady, 7,450; Coleman, 1,750; De Leon, 2,316; Eastland, 10,549; Gatesville, 5,800; Lampasas, 9,800; Mineral Wells, 1,500; Ranger, 6,263; San Saba, 8,457; Temple, 13,000; Winters, 2,316.

Ben Barnes, the nice looking young man from De Leon, seems to be making a favorable impression with the voters here in his race for State Representative. He looks like he could get the job done.

Business is picking up at the Comanche City Hall since the City Council has given notice that they intend to work for better and safer driving in Comanche by enforcing the law that requires vehicle drivers to heed all stop signs.

Most everybody stops for the red lights, but it is easier to forget about the stop signs.

Traffic violations cost everybody two ways at present, since every traffic conviction will add to the cost of your car insurance, at least unless the law is changed.

The City Council at Dublin is setting tough with citizens of that town who are behind with payment of their water bills, and has given notice that all residents who are delinquent in paying their water bill will find themselves without water some morning when they wake up.

Congratulations are in order to the Comanche High School girls and coaches for winning the district basketball championship. It was the first such title here in six years.

During the four years, 1950 to 1954 inclusive, the Indian Maidens won one state championship, two regional titles, and four district crowns.

This year the Gorman girls have won their Class B district championship for the fourth consecutive year, and they went to the State meet once.

The Comanche boys did right well in basketball too, this season, playing under their fine new coach, Ray Smith, graduate of Austin College. In district play, the Indians won five out of eight games.

The Indians lost three of their starting team this year by graduation, Richard Terrell, Gary Don Swearingin, and John Gleaton. All three are fine players.

Gleaton and Swearingin, who have been playing together since their grade school days, make a fine team and they never had a better night than they did last Friday, when playing against the Dublin Lions. The two made a total of 44 points in the contest, won by Comanche 82 to 54. They did this despite the fact they sat out almost the entire second quarter.

The basic strength of any nation, to its moral strength, says the Andrews County Times.

All the weapons, all the productive capital, all the money on earth, cannot save a people from ultimate destruction, if their moral fiber decays, their national character rots, and they sink into an abyss of material cynicism, indifference, selfishness, aversion and greed.

The Tampa (Florida) Sun Dial

recently carried an article pointing out the evils of inflation which if unchecked will eventually destroy the value of the United States dollar.

There is no dispute that the American dollar is worth just about half now what it was prior to World War II.

This means that if you had, for example, a paid up insurance policy on that date, today it will pay only half as much as it would before World War II.

Inflation hurts most those who have their wealth invested in money, notes, bonds, paid up insurance, pensions, annuities, etc.

The Tampa Sun Dial cites the following as what inflation can do to the currency of any country.

Just take a look at Germany after World War I. In 1918 it took 4.2 German marks to equal one American dollar. Inflation then started in Germany and by November of 1923, it took 4 million marks to equal one American dollar, and newspapers sold for 200,000,000 marks.

In 1920 an 18-year-old German inherited $50,000 marks which at that time was worth $65,000 in our money. He was to receive the money when he became 21 years of age. He became 21 in the middle of 1923 and with his inheritance at that time he could buy only one meal. It was a $65,000 lunch based on what his inheritance was worth in 1919.

Of course, our economy may never reach that low, but the fact that our American dollar is worth only half what it was in 1941, and only about a fourth of what it was in 1900, should scare us into doing something about it.

If a dictator declared a law depriving his people of half of their purchasing power, we would call it tyranny.

Yet, in a democracy when the cost of living increases, without corresponding increases in our income, it results in the same loss of purchasing power.

That is why everyone should take an interest in politics and the way our government is operated. If we do not, we will have to pay for it in loss through inflation.

Public School Week will soon be here. The week of February 23 through March 28 has been designated for that observance.

The need for the public schools never changes, but time and conditions change, making it necessary to change the methods and practices of public education.

This is true of anything that grows, for growth is the result of changes. Comanche County, which used to have over 100 schools, now has only four: Comanche, Gustine, De Leon, and Sidney. This decrease in the number of schools was due partly to the population decrease, but mostly in account of school consolidation, which most of us regard as a progressive step.

The Comanche Public Schools, under the wise direction of Superintendent S. H. Fletcher and the School Board an unusual high corps of teachers, are making steady progress and are being operated on a sound basis.

We are less familiar with the other three schools, but from reports we hear, they all are doing good work and making progress, and the people of Comanche County have the right to be proud of all of them.

The public school system of Texas was created 106 years ago in 1854 when the first law was passed by the Texas Legislature setting out a formula for creating the public school system.

The start was slow and for a number of years many people in Texas who had the money, believed the public school were not good enough for their children and placed their children in private schools, or hired tutors to teach them in their homes.

There are a few people who still hold to this idea, and place their children in private schools or church schools.

The Catholics in most of the big cities of Texas have established a system of high schools and some elementary schools. Also the Lutherans in many towns of Texas operate their own school systems.

Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon this year placed their two daughters in a school operated by the Quaker Church of which they are members.

The Nixon girls had been attending public schools, but when the eldest daughter became eligible for junior high school, the Nixons said they were enrolling their children in the church school in order that they might attend the same school.

The Washington schools are integrated and about half the population of that city is colored.

Texas ranked third of all the 50 States in acreage and production of fresh vegetables in 1959, according to A&M College.

Onions was the Number 1 Texas vegetable crop with 40,800 acres harvested and sold for $14,192,000.

Watermelons was second with 105,000 acres harvested and sold for $6,825,000.

Tomatoes was third with total sales amounting to $4,944,000; while spinach, carrots and cantaloupes accounted for more than $3,000,000.

Is the popularity of school athletics declining? This question was asked by Gene Townsend last week in his column in The Ranger Times.

Townsend's discussion: "The question has been asked many times this school year: What has been happening to the crowds at the Bulldog games in both football and basketball?"

"Well, how can any one expect a good crowd to attend a game, if the school spirit has dropped to such a low point that the student body and faculty fail to show up at the gym on the night the teams play?"

"It should be compulsory for members of the faculty to attend at least one sport activity each month in order to show some resemblance of school spirit and to prove that they are not just clock watchers, just working for the dollar. Even a teacher should show some resemblance of school spirit."

"For the first time this season, the Ranger High School student body turned out in numbers Tuesday when the basketball teams played home games. That was the fifth and final home conference game this year.

"But why did the crowd come? The reason that there were so many students out, wasn't the old school spirit to support the team, win or lose, but to observe the presentation of the Basketball Queen. The band was there for the first time to play at the halftime ceremonies and most of the crowd stayed around, for manners sake, and saw the rest of the game."

"Maybe the adults are thinking that they can have more fun by engaging in athletics themselves, than by watching their children perform in the school gymnasium. Bowling and golfing is gaining in popularity, even if it does cost a little money, and at times you have to travel away from home."

"Bowling enthusiasts will welcome the news that Breckenridge is getting a new fine bowling alley."

"Here is a bit of news that will be interesting to several people of Ranger. It is reported that golfing is no longer a rich man's game. There are quite a few poor golfers on the course these days."

Not much complaint can be registered in Comanche about the crowds that have been attending football and basketball games this year. Even away from home Comanche usually has as many people on their side as there are people on the home team's side.

and sometimes even more.

Yet the attendance could be better. Superintendent Fletcher seems to set the example for the rest of the faculty as he seems always to be present at every game unless important official duties call him elsewhere. No man will go further to attend a Comanche game than High School Principal J. E. Lightfoot and he usually fills his station wagon with his friends.

There are some people, of course, who care absolutely nothing about athletics, and that is their privilege and they can show their loyalty to the school by attending other school programs such as band concerts, PTA meetings, home talent plays and other functions, and last but not least, they can go over to the school tax office at least once a year and pay their annual dues for the support of the school, whether or not they have children, or even grandchildren in attendance.

It takes all kinds of people to make the world and the cooperation of everybody to make the community in which they live a better place.

It takes a lot of things to make a good town or community, but two of the essentials are good schools and good churches. No town can be a good town without having both. And everybody can help in their own way in making these institutions better from year to year.

Continuing our study of presidents of the United States, we are going to give facts about the wives of presidents.

We believe that the wife of any man depends a lot on the wife, regardless of the position he follows.

As previously mentioned, annan was our only president who never married. His presidents married two were John Tyler, Millard more, Benjamin Harrison, and Roosevelt, and Wilson.

Several of our presidents died widows, including Washington, who married Dandridge Curtis, a rich man with two children when Dandridge was 27 years old.

At the age of 24 Thomas Jefferson married Martha Skelton, a 24-year-old widow. She died ten years later, never remarrying and he never remarried.

James Madison married Payne Todd, a young woman who was 21 years younger than his famous husband. She went to be one of the most women ever to occupy the House and was a charming

State Draft Quota For March Is 265

AUSTIN, Feb. 9. — The state quota for Texas draft boards in March calls for 265 men. Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, announced Tuesday.

The state's March call of 265 compares with a quota of 246 for February and 310 for January. The March call is the state's share of a national quota of 6,000 men, all for the Army.

Colonel Schwartz also announced that local boards would send approximately 500 men for pre-induction physical and mental examinations. These men return home after being examined at examining stations.

Local board quotas for the March call already have been figured and are scheduled to be sent to the state's 137 local boards Friday.

The March quota will be filled with men who are at least 22 years old on March 1, with the exception of volunteers or draftees, who may be younger.

State News From Austin

by Vern Sanford, Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Democratic County Executive Committees will decide on March 14 whether to change the old custom of holding rural area precinct conventions in the daytime.

New election law passed last year has already doomed a number of Texas political traditions — like announcing when the dogwood comes out and serving watermelon at election rallies.

Primaries are now held the first weeks of May and June, instead of the last weeks of July and August, as before.

Another change is that a person who wishes to participate in a Democratic precinct convention must already have voted in the Democratic primary held the same day in order to have a poll tax stamped "Democratic."

City precincts won't be affected. These, customarily, the precinct conventions have been held after the polls close at 7 p.m.

In rural areas conventions usually have been held in the afternoon. This enabled people to come in, attend the convention, vote, buy their groceries, all in one trip, and get home in time to do the milking.

Now there is the necessity of giving everyone time to vote before the convention can be held.

State Democratic Chairman J. E. Connally has suggested county committees give thought to holding rural precinct conventions later — possibly not until after the polls close at 7 p.m.

Legislative Races

With 120 of the 150 House members making a bid for reelection, each of the two leading candidates for Speaker claims that half or more of these probable returnees is pledged to him.

Most active in the speakers' race are Reps. Wade Spilman of McAllen and James Truman of Gober. Some are predicting the race may be as long and hard as the last one between Waggoner Carr and Joe Burckett.

Thirty House members are either retiring from public life (including Burckett) or seeking another office (including Carr). Of the 120 who are running again for the House, 82 have opponents. This means there'll definitely be no decision on the speakers' race until after the primaries.

Neither Turman nor Spilman has an opponent for his House seat.

Of the 16 senators up for reelection, all are running again and ten have opponents.

Unless there should be an unusual number of "upsets," legislative turnover should be about the same or less than usual. "Normal" replacement is about one-third of the House (or 50 members) and a very small number of senators, usually not more than two or three.

Trojan Horse

Consideration of a federal aid to education bill in Washington has Texans reacting with mixed emotions.

It also adds new urgency to the efforts of those who want to see Texans shoulder school improvement responsibility through passage of the Hale-Aikin program.

Gov. Price Daniel said Texans should accept U.S. Senate passage of the federal aid bill as "fair warning" that Congress will step in if states don't take the necessary action.

If the states let in federal money, they will let in federal control of schools, the governor declared. He called "impossible" the idea of "federal money without strings attached."

Stick With Guns

State Board of Insurance has announced five minor changes in the safe driving insurance plan, but in broad effort, the plan remains the same. Board stuck to its guns despite a barrage of criticism.

Main change is that an insurance company cannot deny liability on a policy if false or inaccurate information is given by the policy holder. For instance, a person taking out a policy might, intentionally or unintentionally, fail to tell the insurance company how many accidents or traffic violations were on his driving record.

However, the company would be entitled to collect the higher premiums or damages from fraud if the policy holder had not admitted to his true driving record.

Premiums go up in proportion to the number of accidents and violations on a driver's record.

New Party Leader

Albert B. Fay, Houston oilman, shipbuilder and rancher, succeeds Jack Porter of Houston as Texas Republican national committee man.

Porter came to power in the party in 1952 as an Eisenhower supporter when the "Old Guard" supporters of the late Sen. Robert Taft were swept aside. Porter stepped down this year because of his health.

Besides electing Fay, the GOP State Committee promised to field a challenger to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson in the general election next fall. Johnson has no Democratic opponent for his senate post.

Republicans will nominate their candidates at a state convention ease the problem.

In flu-stricken schools, the average attendance for the epidemic period will be adjusted to reflect the percentage difference between actual attendance and attendance which would have been expected had there been no epidemic.

Mrs. Pearl Johnson of Comanche was admitted for treatment in a Gorman hospital last week.

Loss For Flu

Not the least of the worries in Comanche hard hit by influenza was the loss of state aid money which is based on average daily attendance.

State Board of Education, however, has worked out an emergency "epidemic formula" to help

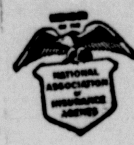

You think this is remarkable!

Coastal Bermuda Yields Highest Grass Grown In Area

By Bill Keith, SCS
Coastal Bermuda is proving to be the highest yielding pasture in this area. Many farmers are planning to plant this grass. Better yields with higher production than Common Bermuda. More acres of cultivated land will be planted to Coastal Bermuda was developed on non-irrigated land. Because of its deep root penetration, it will produce more than Common Bermuda. It is adapted to most sections, and especially sandy soils. A common where Common Bermuda grows Coastal Bermuda will produce more growth of this grass. The highest protein value makes it ideal for livestock grazing. Coastal to Common in most cases. The bright growth of from 12" to 30" production ranging from 500 to 1000 bales per acre are very common. Many are feeding this in preference to other kinds, because of its high protein value, and its high protein value, and its high protein value.

very little waste to this hay. Fertilizer is very important too. Tests conducted have shown high amounts of nitrogen, as much as 300 to 500 pounds are still profitable. If you want top production, use a good fertilizer program.

Coastal is planted from root stock. Being a hybrid it does not make seed. These sprigs are available from local growers. Planting dates are from February 15 to early summer depending on late spring moisture. Some contract planting will be done this year. Also district equipment will be used. The County ACP office will share cost on this practice. Contact their office for sodding requirements and cost sharing rates.

Anyone desiring more information about this grass, or assistance in planning their grass program, may contact their local Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Par Value Of Stock Reduced By Local Bank

Jack Moore, president, announces that The Comanche National Bank has just completed a program of reducing the par value of the shares of the bank from $100.00 to $20.00; or issuing five shares of the new stock for one share of the old.

This move, of course, does not affect the total capital structure of the bank, which at this time, with accumulated profits and reserves, amounts to over $415,000.

Mr. Moore adds, "The new par value is more flexible and the stock will be more easily handled from the standpoint of buying and selling."

Jack Cox Says Daniel Trying To Ride LBJ's Coattails

Jack Cox, of Breckenridge, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, charged that Gov. Price Daniel "is trying to ride into a third term on Lyndon Johnson's coattails."

Cox, in a speech filmed for delivery on television in 18 Texas cities, also accused Daniel of making the state's public schools a political football, of mistreating the elder citizens, of failing to control lobbyists and failing to present an effective plan for "putting our financial house in order."

Cox quoted an unnamed politician as having told him "don't you know that Price Daniel and Sen. Lyndon Johnson have already made a trade, and that Sen. Johnson is going to see that Gov. Daniel is re-elected?"

"Well now—I don't know anything of the sort," Cox said. "Why in the world would Sen. Johnson want to get himself involved in the governor's race? He is already the leader of the United States Senate. He's running for re-election as senior senator from Texas. And some think that he is running for president."

Cox also accused Daniel of misleading both the school teachers and tax payers. He said Daniel "has been just about to do something for the school teachers of Texas ever since he came into office" but has done nothing "except keep them dangling on the string from week to week and from year to year."

Of the state financial problems Cox charged that Daniel has never offered "a clear cut, aboveboard, understandable and effective plan for putting our financial house in order."

"Here again, though, let's give him credit. He announced he is thinking about appointing about appointing a committee to study the matter," Cox said.

ON THE MOVE

.... WITH BURKS

When Mrs. Bessie Coker decided to move to Fort Worth last month, she didn't have to worry about who would move her household goods. She just called 60 and let Burk's Transfer handle the job.

Chas. Nance also had Burk's Transfer move him, when he moved from the Board Church Community to his new home he bought from Ed Willis.

Mr. Thomas Snead, minister of the Gustine Church of Christ, got in touch with Burk's Transfer when he moved recently to Duncanville.

Paul Hunter who has had his household goods in storage at Burk's Storage Warehouse, moved into his new farm home near Gustine last month.

Houses are hard to find in Comanche. If you don't believe us, just ask Mr. or Mrs. Ralph Spruill. We had to move their household goods into storage until they locate a house.

ALL 1960 COTTON INCLUDED IN FARM PROGRAM QUOTA

Marketing quotas for the 1960 crop of upland cotton apply to all producers — those who elect Choice (B) allotments as well as those with Choice (A) allotments. William F. Bryant, chairman of the Comanche County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said recently.

Notices of the national average price support rate for both Choice (A) and Choice (B) cotton were recently mailed to all producers in the county. Each cotton grower was given the size of his Choice (A) and Choice (B) allotment for 1960 before the cotton marketing quota referendum last December.

Cotton growers who want their Choice (B) allotment in effect for 1960 must file that decision with the County ASC office not later than March 16. The Choice (B) allotment for a farm is 40 per cent larger than the regular or Choice (A) allotment. Price support available for cotton produced on a Choice (B) allotment farm is 15 per cent of parity less than for Choice (A) cotton.

Under the present law, a producer who does not elect the Choice (B) program will have the Choice (A) program in effect for his farm.

After the deadline of March 16 for electing a Choice (B) allotment, there will, in general, be no changes for one allotment to another. Cotton produced on any acreage in excess of the chosen allotment for the farm will be subject to marketing quota penalties.

Dare To Be Different ..

by Mrs. H. E. Waggoner, Comanche.

Daniel 1:8 "But Daniel purposed in his heart, that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank."

Daniel was a Hebrew youth in captivity, royal blood flowed in his veins, he was well favored and skilled in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge and understanding science. With all these outstanding characteristics, he sounds like a wonderful boy. Yet he dared to be different. He dared to have courage to be true to his convictions, even though he didn't know what the outcome would be.

Saul of Tarsus persecuted the Christians until a light from Heaven changed his whole life, and he became Paul the preacher, who dared to preach before kings. Also he dared to storm the very gates of Rome in chains under the shadow of death to carry his Master's message to the lost. Was there any lack of thrills in his life? No, his life was as full of thrills as Herod Agrippa, David Livingston and Abraham Lincoln's. Only he dared to be different for the glory of God.

To dare to be different because of convictions about certain things, doesn't mean you have to be fanatical and an extremist—and giving up all joy, rather the opposite. There's something wonderful that comes into our heart that deep and abiding. There's a fleeting pleasure in sin that glitters for awhile, then flees away, leaving an empty heart with no abiding joy, only shame and loneliness. Daniel dared to be different because of his conviction.

tions. He was loved and respected by the king of Babylon and put in a place of honor and dignity, so he lost nothing, but gained much by daring to be different.

It takes real courage in these confusing times to dare; to dare take a stand for righteousness. I salute young people who try. Some of us adults who have reached the sunset time in our lives look back with regrets and wish we'd always dared to be different. It's ironic some of us a lifetime to learn to live richly and abundantly. Over the stretch of years we've faltered and stumbled. That's true to life. We hope our failures have often meant stepping stones to a better, happier life, thanks to a patient, loving Lord for that.

A lovely young girl was invited to a luncheon in the palatial home of a girl she had met in college. She went with apprehension as to the outcome of the evening. Gay conversation took place at the lovely table. An empty glass was by each plate, and waiters were filling the glasses with whiskey. Quietly she turned some stir and confusion. With a pray in her heart she arose from her chair, and said this, "I feel like I owe my gracious hostess an explanation as to why I didn't let the waiter fill my glass. I have deep conviction in my heart about drinking. I wouldn't be true to myself and to God if I failed Him now. There are those who trust me, a young brother and the wonderful boy I will marry soon. Besides, I'd lose my self respect, and always I would feel cowardly inside. I hope you understand." And strangely enough they did, for many full glasses were never touched. She had won their admiration and respect by daring to be true to her convictions.

"I would be true, for there are those who trust me
I would be pure, for there are those who care
I must be strong, for there is much to suffer
I would be brave, for there is much to dare."

D. F. Carmichael, County Resident 71 Years, Dies

David Fulmer Carmichael, 73, resident of Comanche County since 1887, died Monday, Feb. 15, at a Gustine rest home. He had been in failing health for several years.

Funeral services for Mr. Carmichael were held Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 2 p.m. in The Comanche Funeral Home Chapel, with Rev. J. D. Smoot and Rev. G. H. Horton, Methodist ministers, officiating.

Burial was in the Indian Creek Cemetery.

Palbearers were Mr. Carmichael's nephews. Mr. Carmichael was born September 20, 1886 in Dallas County. He was the son of the late Willie B. and Lucia Carmichael. The family moved to Comanche County when Mr. Carmichael was one year old. He grew to manhood on a farm, and lived most of his life in the Indian Creek community.

On December 27, 1907, at the age of 21, Mr. Carmichael was married to Miss Jennie Lorenia Carter, who survives him. They were the parents of one daughter, now Mrs. John (Rube Fay) Sharpe of New Orleans, La., and two sons, Archie W. Carmichael of San Angelo, and Willie Preston Carmichael of Fort Worth. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Mattie Langley of Comanche; a brother, Perry H. Carmichael of Proctor, Rt. 2, Dublin; and four grandchildren. A brother, Buren Carmichael, preceded him in death.

Mr. Carmichael was converted in 1914 at the age of 28, and was a member of the Bethel Nazarine Church.

Roberson Buys Thompson Interest In Barber Shop

J. L. Roberson, Comanche barber for the past 18 months, has purchased the interest of his partner, Homer Thompson, in the Thompson-Roberson Shop, and is now in charge under the new firm name, Roberson Barber Shop.

Thompson, shop owner and popular barber here for many years, will devote only part time to the barber business now.

Cullen Couch, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Couch, Gustine, who is a recent graduate of the Texas Barber College, Fort Worth, has been employed by Roberson on a full time basis.

"New equipment has been added to the shop," says Roberson, adding that new and latest type barber chairs, as well as new back bar and waiting chairs are included in the improvements.

Newburg Community Activities In Brief

The Newburg Community Club started the New Year out with its annual New Year's dinner on Friday evening January first. This was a gala event enjoyed by the many who attended. Games were played after the bountiful meal.

The regular business meeting on February 4th was very successful in that many plans were completed. The soil testing committee, headed by Leroy Kemnitz and Keith Lane, Jr. and assisted by the 4-H boys has been busy and have ready the soil samples to be taken to College Station on February 19th. They are also working on a Community map to spot available water for the convenience of Rural Fire Fighting Equipment.

The club is especially proud of the 4-H Club which they sponsor. These boys and girls have been very busy also. On Friday night February 12 they sponsored a Community Heart Fund Drive after they enjoyed a Weiner Roast. The girls have met twice this New Year for Foods subject matter demonstrations and there was a good attendance at each meeting.

Things Picking Up At Long Mountain, One Time Second Fiddle To Round Mountain

most part of the century following the creation of Comanche County in 1856, Long Mountain was considered a second fiddle to Round Mountain. It was a place of many picnics, a scene of many gatherings, and a favorite spot for courting and even sports. A youth proposal by the youth of Comanche County.

Round Mountain gained national attention as the original laboratory of the late Robert T. Hill, world famous geologist, who got his first professional training in geology for his profession by climbing strange rocks on top of the mountain. As a boy, Dr. Hill was a printer's devil for The Comanche Chief.

Some fifteen years ago, Round Mountain gained further recognition when at the prior request of the deceased, Dr. Hill's ashes were scattered on top of the mountain in the presence of not only geologists from all parts of the country.

Long Mountain Gets Look

But during the last few years there has been a change in Long Mountain. It all started in the late '40's when R. H. Dalton, owner of the land, started mining rock from Long Mountain and having it converted into some of the best building stone in Texas. The venture, however, proved a financial failure, and the decaying remains of the equipment and piles of huge stones, enough to build several mansions, are left to bear witness of the unsuccessful venture.

Some half a dozen years ago, interest was revived in Long Mountain when a United States Government agency began mining an all-weather road up the side of the mountain and established as part of an emergency security program, a radar tower and a stone building, which was reported to be outmoded almost as soon as completed.

Just recently, however, the U. S. Air Force has begun other activities, as described in the story appearing in The Comanche Bulletin, complete with pictures. Much of the historical data for this story was furnished by Ernest G. Wells, owner of a Round Mountain ranch, and also noted as a Comanche taxidermist, a saddle-maker, and reunion entertainer. A project which is a boost to the mountains, is a farm-to-market road that already has been approved to run from Comanche along the north side of the Carnes Addition west on the old Sidney road for 5 miles to the vicinity of the mountains.

The story as carried in The Brownwood Bulletin follows:

Long Mountain as joined the jet age.

Engineers added the cold reality of the modern world to the mountain's stories and legends when they recently began installing radar equipment in a steel tower on the northwest side.

A smooth and narrow gravel road winds up the mountain, Comanche County's highest elevation, to the 300-acre plateau. The road passes through liveoak brush and near an abandoned limestone quarry to the tower.

Like a modern Stonehenge, the large limestone blocks are stacked around the old stone quarry. A giant could have scattered the symmetrical blocks around the edge of the mountain.

Through the rocks can be seen the dome of Round Mountain, several hundred feet across the pass.

Gap Filler Radar

The U. S. Air Force is installing the gap filler radar tower on the mountain. The tower is only one of many in the nation's radar system. Engineers have been working four weeks on installing equipment and expect to finish in about two weeks.

John B. Maples, Jr., formerly of the Newburg community in Comanche County, received what he considered a choice assignment when the Washington office of Advanced Communications Engineering, a division of Cook Electric Co., sent him to Comanche County as project engineer.

Maples, a graduate of Comanche High School and former student at the University of Texas and the University of Arkansas, is the son of Mr. and Mrs.

John Maples, who still reside at Newburg.

Crew of Five

Five men from the company are working at the Long Mountain site. ACE and Cook complete communications work throughout the world. ACE received contract recently to install a complete communications system for Nepal.

Air Force officials will take over at the tower when ACE has completed its assignment, Maples said.

Wide View

A distance of over 30 miles can be seen from the steel tower. To the southwest stands the peak of Salt Mountain in Brown County. All around are the leaf-life mountains on the Brown-Comanche line. Comanche and Sidney both are visible.

The Air Force tower was erected on or near the area where an old survey tower was located in the late 1800's, according to E. G. Wells of Comanche, who lived near Long Mountain from 1898 until 16 years ago.

Wells still owns a ranch at the foot of the mountain. As a boy he roamed all over the mountain and knew all its secret places.

Old Survey Tower

The survey tower was wooden and burned shortly before the turn of the century when the brush on the mountain burned. Wells said. Officials later tried to locate the site when the radar tower was proposed.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Robertson have owned Long Mountain since the fall of 1950. Their 1700-acre ranch includes the entire mountain summit and most of the adjacent area. Their ranch home is located at the eastern foot of the mountain.

The government purchased a small plot of land to locate the tower. An old road was originally built in the 1940s when a limestone quarry was started on the mountain top.

Limestone Quarries

Comco Limestone Co. actually operated two quarries atop the mountain. Operations began in 1948. R. H. Dalton was the chief promoter of the enterprise and W. E. Fulgham operated the quarries.

Even light rains sent water washing over the make-shift road leading up to the summit. Heavy trucks needed to transport the limestone blocks required sound roads. Seepage further undermined the winding road.

Electricity was not available on the mountain in 1948 and the limestone blocks could not be sawed into small pieces. The blocks were taken down the mountain, hauled down the mountain by truck and cut into smaller pieces for building purposes at a plant near the railroad tracks in Comanche.

Wire Cutter

A well on the mountain supplied water for operations at the quarries. The stone was cut in blocks by a heavy wire pulled rapidly through the material. Water poured on the wire kept it from overheating.

The large blocks, about two feet wide and eight feet long, were taken down the mountain one or two at a time. Once the brakes on one of the trucks went out, the driver jumped out and the truck ran off the road and spilled its load.

Workers tried to remove the blocks, but efforts failed and the block remains, a decoration near the entrance gate to the mountain roadway.

Another truck went out of commission on the mountain and was abandoned. Boys in the area used the truck for a rifle target for awhile and later John Robertson used it for storing cattle feed. The rusted remains are near one of the quarries.

Cost High

Cost of cutting the limestone, transporting it to Comanche and then cutting it was too high and the enterprise was abandoned in 1949.

Robertson bought the area in 1950 and began using the mountain top as part of his ranch. The Robertsons use the range on the mountain for goats and prized Hereford cattle.

Much of the 300 acres atop the mountain is good land, with a good stand of grass. Fences divide the mountain into several pastures.

The Robertsons kept the gate to the mountain road closed until the government began working on the radar tower. The gate is now open and many visitors have driven up the steep road to see the panoramic view from the summit and to gaze curiously at the engineering crew at work on the radar tower.

"We'll keep the gates open as long as visitors leave their guns at home and shut the gates behind them," Mrs. Robertson said.

The Robertsons and their two children, Jane Ann, 12, and John Wayne, 5, live in a modern ranch home near the mountain.

Long Mountain is on land that once formed part of Charlie Bryson's 5,000-acre ranch in Comanche County. E. G. Wells and Allen Stagner built a fence across the mountain for Bryson.

Camp On Mountain

Wells and Stagner camped two days and two nights on the mountain while putting in the fence. They went to the top in a wagon.

They camped under a liveoak grove. Heavy brush covered the mountain then. Goats later ate out most of the underbrush, leaving only the taller liveoaks.

Fake Indians

One day two men were taking cattle through a pass at the base of the mountain. Five cowboys who lived in the area decided to try their hand at a little humor.

The took some blankets, wrapped themselves and started down the pass. The cattlemen thought they were being stalked by wild Indians and took off. They went all the way to Sweetwater Gap to get the cattle through the mountains.

Tannehill Cave is another feature of the mountain. Wells said. Bill Tannehill knew of a hole in the rocks on the east side of the mountain. He hauled the soft dirt from the cave.

Small Cave

The small cave extends about 38 feet under the bluff. Wells said. The front portion is about 20 feet long. There is a 10-foot offset and the back part is about 50 feet long. Wells said.

"I used to crawl back there without a light, but I wouldn't do it now," Wells said. Rattlesnakes were pretty thick around there, he said.

George Vernon and a partner of his once had a limestone quarry and a lime kiln on the east side of the mountain. Wells said. The limestone was operated by steam, he said.

Time Kiln

The lime kiln was located up a draw toward the cave. This was before Wells moved into the area, he said.

A large rock house once stood southeast of the mountain. The house was in ruins before 1898, Wells said. The old Mead place, which had a log cabin for a house, was located about half-a-mile south of the mountain. Mead spring was nearby.

Wells said Long Mountain would have made a good race track. Before the Air Force moved in, there was a clump of liveoaks near the center of the summit. Around the grove was a circular open space. Nearby was a rocky bank where spectators could sit.

The natural track was never used, Wells pointed out. Other area residents said the track was used and a lookout was posted to keep watch for the law.

If we made Gladiola Flour for Zigzag, Ore...

it wouldn't need to be quite so good

...but we make it for you

Gladiola Land is just a little bigger than Texas. What's it famous for? Biscuits, cakes and pies turned out by the best home bakers in America.

When it comes to flour, these ladies are as choosy as a princess picking a husband. Only snow-white Gladiola Flour is good enough. So, naturally, it outsells every other brand.

If you're from Zigzag, Ore., we hope we haven't hurt your feelings. We just wanted to make sure you realize that Gladiola Flour is different. It has to be. And by the way, it costs only about 1/2¢ a day more than the cheapest flour.

Bake and be Glad—with

GLADIOLA FLOUR

The best-selling flour in the Southwest

23 YEARS AGO

Gustine Junior Class To Present Play Friday Night, February 19

By Jeanette Lancaster

FROM THE COMANCHE CHIEF, JANUARY, 1937.

The purchase of the Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railroad from Menard through Comanche to Fort Worth, a distance of 215 miles, by the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe Railroad Company, has been announced by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Thousands of dollars will be spent in improving the road.

W. A. (Mike) Tippe, 72, well known Comanche County farmer, died at his home in the Indian Creek community January 11. Tippe had been a resident of the county 40 years, moving here in 1894 and settling first in the White Point community, where he lived until 10 years ago when he moved to his present location, 4 miles east of Comanche.

The Amity Baptist Church building, one of the oldest in the county near Strum, was destroyed by fire last week.

Rev. A. Edwin Wilson, pastor of the Comanche First Baptist Church, is in Los Angeles, California, attending the World's Christian Fundamentals Association.

The First Annual Banquet of the Comanche Chamber of Commerce will be held in the dining room of the First Methodist Church, February 14, according to deposits in the First State Bank of Gustine are up $5,000 over those of a year ago. The present deposits are $48,559.37 as compared to $43,091.83 a year ago. Loans and discounts are $23,415.26 as compared to $37,263.15 a year ago.

T. P. (Uncle Dora) Patterson died this week at De Leon. He suffered a stroke while attending a board of directors meeting of the P&M Bank of De Leon. He was a pioneer and influential citizen of the county. He was a brother of Mrs. J. C. Hooker and an uncle of Mrs. Verner Hooker Carpenter.

C. C. Baxter, owner of the Dublin Radio Station, KPPL, announces that the station has increased its power from 100 watts to 250. The station was established in 1924.

Floyd Elliott and Miss Agnes Gordon were married December 25, 1956 by Rev. J. D. Smoot.

G. S. Moore and Miss Hazel Carmack were married December 29, 1956 by Rev. A. Edwin Wilson.

L. B. Russell of Comanche says that the exact date when the seat of government was moved from Old Comanche to Comanche was July 14, 1859. Not only were the courthouse records moved to the new county seat of Comanche County on that day, but a number of citizens of Comanche also moved about the same time to Comanche. In fact, almost all the citizens in the old county seat had moved to Comanche by July 1861, although a few stores and shops remained in Comanche for a few years, and the Swan Hill School, established nearby later, was a flourishing school for many years.

A good many farm homes were built in the Soda Springs community during 1936. Those who have just completed homes or have them under construction are Mr. and Mrs. M. Helm, Mrs. Lila Carter, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Nichols, and Rev. and Mrs. Woolsey.

At the first regular meeting of the De Leon Chamber of Commerce in 1937 held at the Traders Hotel, the following officers were elected: C. M. Canaway, president; T. H. Williams, vice-president; and J. D. Tate, secretary. New directors who took office were Mayor P. T. Daniel, School Superintendent, E. H. Boulter, and J. T. Edmondson, tailor.

Rev. William B. Hogg, world wide known evangelist, who held the famous Hogg revival at the Methodist Tabernacle in Comanche in 1937, died last week in Hollywood, California.

The following Associated Press account of Rev. Hogg's death was carried this week in the daily papers:

"Hollywood, California, January 15, 1937.—The Rev. William B. Hogg, prominent minister, who achieved national radio fame as 'Joel Hoggins,' died here last night from the effects of a major operation.

"Rev. Mr. Hogg began his religious career as a circuit riding minister in the Tennessee hill country. Later he served as pas-

Col. Ike Moore Joins U. of T. Research Staff

AUSTIN, Feb. 4.—Colonel Leslie S. (Ike) Moore, former Tarleton State College dean of students and chemistry professor, is the new executive assistant at the University of Texas Balcones Research Center. Colonel Moore is a Comanche native, the son of the late C. M. Moore.

Col. Moore will work with Prof. J. Neils Thompson, Balcones Research Center director, and will edit the University's Engineering-Science News. He succeeds the late Fred Thompson, longtime Austin newspaperman who held the job for nine years.

Col. Moore, a native of Comanche, served 18 years on active duty with the U.S. Army, 10 years as a chemical engineer with Gulf Oil Corporation in Port Arthur and Philadelphia, Pa., and six years at Tarleton State. He has degrees in agriculture and chemical engineering from Texas A&M College.

Before retiring with 30 years' army service last spring, Col. Moore was assistant chief of staff for personnel for the Eighth Army Corps (Reserve) in Austin. During World War II he served in North Africa and Italy. In 1947 he became commanding officer, Eastern Chemical Depot, Army Chemical Center, Md., and later was made deputy commander of the U.S. Army Biological Warfare Laboratories, Fort Detrick, Md. He served with the Eighth Army in Korea, and was awarded a Bronze Star for meritorious service.

For of churches in Little Rock and El Paso.

"He came to Hollywood three years ago and established a non-denominational church. Rev. Mr. Hogg soon began broadcasting his sermons over the radio and last year was invited by a national chain to make weekly broadcasts as the 'Goose Creek Parson.'

"Born in Mississippi, Rev. Hogg studied at the University of Mississippi and Tulane University. He is survived by his widow, four daughters and a son."

TORSION-SPRING RIDE
Each front wheel, suspended independently of the other, is free to step individually over bumps. And shockproof torsion springs up front soak up the jars and jolts before they reach the body. With three rugged new tailored-to-the-truck rear suspensions to further reduce road shocks, Chevy gives you the smoothest truck ride you've ever felt.

NO SHIMMY, NO WHEEL FIGHT
Drive a '60 Chevy. Just once. Right away you'll notice the absence of I-beam shimmy and wheel fight common on ordinary trucks.

CABS FOR BIG GUYS
Big guys get a bigger break in a Chevy cab. There's plenty of space inside to stretch out and relax; more room for hats and hips, more room for wide shoulders and long legs. There's horizon-wide visibility through a windshield with 26% more glass area; a new see-at-a-glance instrument panel. Cabs are safer, too, up to 67% more rigid.

Among the local members who attended the services was the pastor, Rev. W. G. Self and Mrs. Self, Mr. and Mrs. Walter John Bratton, Miss Opal Bratton, C. C. Frutts, Mrs. Allie Hammond, Mrs. A. L. (Aunt Ellen) Colclasure, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Frutts, and Jesse and Anna Tiner.

Some of the best music talent was represented. Visiting singers came in from Breckenridge, Eastland, Rising Star, Gorman, and other places.

Pastor, Rev. W. G. Self and Mrs. Self, and Jesse and Anna Tiner, representing the local Zion Hill Baptist Church, attended the joint Comanche and Erath Counties Baptist Workers Conferences held at the First Baptist Church in De Leon last Thursday. Each county had 13 churches represented.

Jesse's Verse To His Little Friends:
Give unto others your very best,
And smile, smile, smile.
Look unto Jesus for peace and rest,
The very best thing little hearts can do is to obey parents and teacher, too.
Just study your lessons and be kind and true.

Domino Tourney
Scheduled Friday Night at Sidney

A domino tourney, open to the public, is slated Friday night, Feb. 20, at the Sidney School. Play starts at 7:30 o'clock. Entry fee is 25c per person. Trophies will be awarded winners.

The domino tournament is under sponsorship of the Sophomore Class of Sidney High School, said Superintendent Ray Pruitt, adding that the event is for recreation and fellowship, and not for profit.

ing was the "Party Affiliation" law which is now effective. When a person appears to vote in the Democratic Primary, the presiding judge will stamp the word, "Democrat", on the poll tax receipt, exemption certificate or affidavit of loss. Those persons not required to have an exemption certificate (in cities of less than 10,000 population), will be furnished a certificate of party affiliation by the election judge at the time they vote. Without such proof of affiliation, a person is prohibited from attending the Democratic precinct convention.
